

Relationship Violence Prevention

Learn It....Teach It

Canadian Red Cross is seeking energetic, caring & committed community members to become Volunteer Prevention Educators for its RespectED: Violence and Abuse Prevention program. The ultimate aim of our programming is to teach dedicated individuals to educate young people in a group setting, because education is the first step in breaking the tragic cycle of relationship and family violence.

Built on decades of Red Cross experience in community safety and injury prevention education programming, RespectED had developed a solid expertise in abuse and violence prevention. Our adult education and training programs are based on rigorous research and exceptional standards. Our trained Prevention Educators deliver this national, award-winning child abuse and relationship violence prevention presentations to youth.

While we have the expertise, we rely on Prevention Educators from the community to deliver our program to youth. RespectED presentations empower youth to understand healthy relationships, communication, and prevention skills.

Individuals interested in becoming a Volunteer Prevention Educator will receive an intensive 10-day relationship violence prevention training session this fall in the Edmonton office of the Red Cross. After this training, volunteers are certified to deliver Relationship Violence Prevention presentations to youth ages 12-18, in local schools and community groups.

For information on how to become a RespectED Volunteer Prevention Educator please contact Fiona Amundson at (780) 423-2680 or fiona.amundson@redcross.ca

You can also learn more about RespectED at www.redcross.ca