

If you're walking somewhere all alone
And a stranger stops a car
And says, "Let me give u a lift, you just get into my car"
Shout No! like you mean it
Shout No! and run away
Let that stranger know that you mean what you say

Shout No! (No!) like you mean it
Shout No! and run along
Don't get into that van or car... it's dangerous and it's wrong

They might try and give you candy
Or ask you who you are
But Never, (never), (ever), get into that car
You Shout No! like you mean it!
Shout No! and run away
Let that stranger know that you mean what you say

Shout No! (No!) like you mean it!
Shout No! and run along!
Don't get into that van or car. . . it's dangerous and it's wrong

Let me hear you shout out
"NO!" (NO)
That's the way!
If a stranger asks you, "Where's your home—bet it's a real long walk”

Never, (never), ever, (ever), hang around and talk to them

You SHOUT NO! like you mean it!

SHOUT NO! and run away

Let that stranger know that you mean what you say

Shout No! (NO!) like you mean it!

Shout No! that stranger’s bad

Even though they told you that they know your Mom and Dad

Shout No! (NO!) like you mean it!

Shout No! and run away!

Let that stranger know that you mean what you say

Shout No! (NO!)
